Description

Curious and a real pantry in 19th century oak, let's remember that the pantry in large residences is the room where you store the dishes, the linen, or you keep the provisions. It happened that the children of the masters and the servants took their meals in this place. Our table is made up of four baluster legs, two belt drawers, H spacer, molded top with corbin beak. Perfect condition after revision in our workshop, presented faded and bleached. Note a consolidation with a small metal bar on the lower left crosspiece. Unusual height. Delivery or shipment on estimate. Please contact us for further information.
