d'Automne, as well as in several events in Brest or Nantes. His landscapes of the Brière will notably be exhibited at the Moyon-Avenard gallery in Nantes. Alongside his painting, he led a career as a decorator and poster designer which notably enabled him to win first prize in the Breton Artists poster competition (1907). In 1933, he won the silver medal at the Salon des Artistes Français for his work "Les Veuves". In 1937, with René-Yves Creston, he decorated the Pavilion of Brittany at the Universal Exhibition.
