Description

We present this 18th century chest of drawers in Regency period walnut with the particularity of having a top decorated with patterns in marquetry, in this case stars. This piece of furniture has undergone very few small restorations and especially grooming because since the 18th century it had never been waxed a priori. In fact it had acquired a very pretty patina. All the bronzes, pull handles, keyholes are absolutely original. This piece of furniture is guaranteed to be from the first half of the 18th century anyway. (E)
