Description

This sculpture of Saint Jean de Calvaire in polychrome wood from the 18th century was undoubtedly part of a group that was at the foot of the cross.

Close to Jesus, he was there in the company of Mary among others, and his gaze, eyes raised, is in the direction of Christ on the cross.

His features show the tragedy of the situation and are full of strength.

He wears clothes with worked folds with a strong movement.

This sculpture, very decorative by its large size, is on a steel base.

In good condition with lacks (a hand among others, small accidents and bites).
