Description

Lovely Louis XVI style Chiffonnier, made of solid mahogany and mahogany veneer. Its top consists of a slightly shaded white marble, surrounded by a brass gallery with an openwork edge. In the upper part, this piece of furniture opens on the front with four identical drawers, said to be recessed, with a slightly molded frame. Each of them is equipped with a Louis XVI bronze entrance, with original lock in working order. Note that the sides and bottoms of these drawers are in oak. The lower part consists of a so-called curtain door, made up of small grooved and vertical mahogany elements, opening from left to right onto an interior lined with a removable shelf. This opening is condemned with a hook lock in working order, provided with its key. The sides of this Chiffonnier are made of identical
