Description

Store counter in natural pine, with top with cut front angles. This top is wider on the left than it is on the right. It is supported at the front and on one of its sides by openwork consoles cut into windings. The fronts of this piece of furniture are made up of panels with flat bands, assembled sometimes in one direction, sometimes in the other. They are underlined by doucine rods forming frames. The front amounts are with cut sides and mouldings. The whole rests on a large plinth. What we will choose to call "the back" of this Counter consists of two drawers, assembled with Dovetails, and distributed laterally. They are provided with a lock in working order and their respective keys, all original. This space, initially reserved for the merchant, is also furnished with a fixed shelf, with a maximum depth of 26 cm. It should be noted that this Comptoir also has a floor, characteristic of trade furniture, which allowed the Shopkeeper to protect his feet from the cold of the ground. We will also appreciate, in the center, the natural wear of this platform, which testifies to the Authenticity and the Experience of this property. Also remember that the height of this Comptoir, as well as the significant overhang of its top on the "front" part, offered the possibility for "potential customers" to sit down. They could thus comfortably study the products on display, exchange, and finalize their transactions. To conclude, we will emphasize the asymmetry and the dual functions of this Merchant's Counter, which can be used as Presentation and/or Collection furniture.
