Jean-Marie Fievez (Charleroi 1949-2007)

Belgian sculptor, painter, jewelry designer and scenographer. Very early on, Jean-Marie Fiévez discovered a passion for the plastic arts. (Training at La Cambre in Brussels).

After a remarkable debut at the Théâtre de l'Esprit Frappeur, he designed the costumes and sets for a "Valkyrie" directed by André Ernotte and which caused a scandal.

In Belgium alone, Jean-Marie Fiévez will have participated in some 80 theater performances, including around thirty at the Rideau, but also at the National, at the Galeries, at the Poche, at the Parc, at the Atelier Sainte-Anne.

Called to work abroad, he designs scenographies
