Description

Beautiful painting, acrylic on cardboard by Christophe JEHAN depicting a market scene full of "exoticism".

 XXth century, Signed and dated 94 **

Our painting seems to evoke this period when after having studied architecture and obtained his diploma in Paris, the artist left for the Caribbean to practice the profession of architect while devoting himself to the art of painting in his spare time.

Having certainly found a vocation in the exercise of this art, he will soon return to settle in the South-West of France where he now devotes himself entirely to his art, which he expresses through painting and sculpture.
