Description

This chair with walnut arms rests on a turned wooden base called rosary grain, the backrest is low and the seat wide, the legs are connected by an H spacer. The fully upholstered armrests have eight-sided supports. The woods are sound and we have only noted two small wood grafts on the ends of the rear legs, the seat upholstery is still in very good condition but the petit point upholstery shows wear on the front parts of the armrests . Period first half of the 17th century. Dimensions: Height 99 cm, width 65 cm, depth 46 cm, seat height 44 cm.
