Description

I present to you a remarkable life-size sculpture of Christ in carved wood, an exceptional work of the southern French school dating from the 18th century, entitled "The Carrying of the Cross". Made from coated basswood and adorned with partial polychrome, this impressive sculpture captures the poignant moment of Christ's ascension to Calvary. Work description : The sculpture, measuring 161 cm in height, 56 cm in width and 65 cm in depth, represents Christ in a state of pain and resilience. The work's fragmentary polychromy is particularly remarkable, revealing striking details such as drops of blood and skin color, adding an emotional and realistic dimension to the depiction. Even though the cross is missing, Christ's attitude and expression clearly convey the
