Description

Architectural project, drawing of a neo-classical façade, France circa 1770-1780
In the style of Jean-François-Thérèse Chalgrin, similar to the church of Saint Philippe du Roule, for example.
The facade has a colonnaded forepart in the Ionic order, protecting a portico sheltering a door and a large bas-relief, flanked by two wings certainly opening towards the ambulatory. It is certainly a project for a church.
Ink and wash on laid paper
