

Grinning Demon, Ancient Terracotta Head

350 EUR

Period : 19th century

Condition : Bon état

Material : Terracotta

Description

Terracotta head representing the devil or one of his collaborators, horny, sticking out his tongue, sharp fangs, protruding eyes but a jovial and reassuringly healthy side. From the angry mascarons of the Maison des Cornards via Lavinium to the Etruscans, these demonic faces punctuate History and civilizations but remain poorly represented. Size 30 x 28 x 26 cm Good condition
