Description

Half-moon console made of anthracite marble with white, beige and Sienna fibers, whose edge is molded in a half round. The reserve belt is embellished with two friezes, formed of three wrapped cords for one, of pearls for the other. The whole rests on two turned legs with grooves stopped at three-quarters, connected by a concave spacer, also with reserve, to which is leaned a convex element in order to ensure stability on the wall. This half-moon wall console has the charm of Louis XVI furniture and ideal proportions.
